Rêve de Chantelle is a manufacturer of refined-fragrances perfumes. Our fundamental principle is the belief that sophisticated compositions are like a long story. When it comes to designing a fragrance – it is like making a film: first you have to write a screenplay, then you choose the cast, direct the film and only then can you try to make it popular. The story begins long before the perfume becomes a fragrance. That's why the choice of the name seems to be crucial here; it's strictly linked to the emotions, which the fragrance releases. The collection commences with nine compositions for women and eight for men. They reflect a tailor-made elegance, which allows creating different personalities with the best components. These components wrap your skin up in velvety, long-lasting notes. Each of them tells a different story and lives its own life. The company has a branch in France.
